

Only licensed and certified electrical Service Technicians should attempt to work on line voltage equipment. Additionally when working on line voltage all NEC (National Electrical Codes) should be met or exceeded and RV Comfort Systems accepts no liability for Technician workmanship or applications where State and local codes are not met.